

Money Manager X-Change
adds Kensington Asset Management strategies to its program

The Money Manager X-Change (MMX) program at Axos Advisor Services is designed to enable RIAs to outsource money management to third-party asset managers. Recently, we've added Kensington Asset Management strategies to the MMX program, further diversifying its investment management offerings.

Since 1984, Kensington Asset Management has navigated numerous cycles in both the equity and fixed income markets utilizing a proprietary quantitative methodology designed to tactically shift market exposure of its portfolios based on prevailing conditions. The asset manager strives to minimize subjectivity in the decision-making process to generate steady, above average positive returns with low volatility and provide downside protection for their clients' investment portfolios.

"Kensington Asset Management is a welcome addition to expand the depth and diversity of MMX. Kensington's Managed Income and Dynamic Growth strategies are rated 5-stars by Morningstar, and the Firm has grown tremendously in recent years. We are thrilled to have them on board as these are the types of solutions advisors want for their clients... tactical risk management with compelling performance," said Jonathan Bui, Senior Product Manager at Axos Advisor Services.

The MMX program provides financial advisors access to high-quality investment management, while helping to make their business more efficient. Advisors can delegate all or a portion of their money management to MMX partners while retaining control over which managers and strategies they want to utilize.

"We're excited to be a part of Axos Advisor Services' MMX platform and provide access to our suite of investment strategies. We believe strongly in Axos' vision and are proud to help independent advisors better serve their clients and offer potential investment strategies for all market cycles," said Bruce DeLaurentis, Founder, Lead Portfolio Manager, Kensington Asset Management.
